About Me

Hello! I'm Jyesht, Hello! I'm Jyesht, a Computer Science Engineering student at Gopalan College of Engineering and Management, Bengaluru. I'm passionate about building reliable, secure, and scalable systems. My journey started with web development using the MERN stack and has expanded into exploring DevOps and containerization through Linux and Docker. Lately, I've been deepening my understanding of DevSecOps — learning how automation, security, and system reliability come together to build the modern tech infrastructure I aspire to engineer. I love solving complex problems, simplifying workflows, and continuously learning new tools that make technology more efficient and secure.
